The SPECTRE

by Carl Anderson.

Bar patrons at The Pine Inn and Whitney's have been basking in a human glow for the past week. The glow emanates from the face of Bartender Bill Kelly, who became a first-time papa last Wednesday. His wife, Loretta, gave birth to a baby girl, Kathleen Adele, in the Peninsula Community Hospital, and Bill's not very happy . . .

Helen Wilson, executive secretary of the Carmel Business Association, wants me to pass this word along to newcomer business people in Carmel. The organization is open to any business or professional persons in the village and membership applications are being taken by Jim Rowe, of the Village Shoe Tree. Ten bucks a year takes care of membership fees.

People become angry at the strangest things. We sent out postcards before Christmas urging peninsula residents to send SPECTATOR subscriptions to friends as gifts. One lady called us not long ago and said she had been irritated because the postcard only provided blanks for five subscriptions. She confessed that she was angry enough not to send any subscriptions at all. But she relented on the telephone and ordered 10 gift SPECTATORS. Anyone who finds himself in the same predicament can solve the problem by giving us a ring. Don't go away mad . . .

A few weeks ago I mentioned the couple from East Africa who came to Carmel during a motor trip about the country. They were looking for friends, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Jennings, of Summit, N.J., and they found them following publication of their search in this column. Checking back on the story, I had a talk with Mr. Jennings, who is a retired executive of American Steel & Wire Co., subsidiary of United States Steel. He and his wife had intended to stop here only a few days, but have rented the home of Mrs. Gladys Kiplinger, 11th and Monte Verde, where they will spend the Winter. If Mrs. Jennings has her way, they will stay in Carmel permanently. Same old story . . .

Carmel hotels are loaded with celebrities who have come to the peninsula for the Bing Crosby Tournament. At Pine Inn are screenotables Richard Arlen, Frank Borzage, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Weismuller. Also Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Nevers, Miss Lorita Vallely. Saw Harrison Godwin with Actor Joseph Cotten. At La Playa: Golfers Byron Nelson, Ed Lowery, Art Bell, Bill Higgins, Phil Garnett ...

CARMEL RED CROSS FIRST AID COURSE

The Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross announces a course in standard and advanced first aid to be given at the Carmel Fire House from 7 to 10 p.m., on the following Tuesdays and Thursdays, Jan. 12, 16, 19, 23, 26 and 30. Gene Ricketts and Fred Mylar will be the instructors and the course is open to all interested persons.

BOY SCOUT ANNUAL MEETING

Seventeenth annual meeting of the local Monterey Bay area Boy Scout council will be held at the officers' club, U.S. Naval School, Monterey, Saturday, Jan. 21, Don Gilchrist, president of the organization announced today. The program will include elections, business, dinner, entertainment, music, pageantry and dancing. Starting with dinner at 6 p.m., this annual event is the big adult activity of the year for scouters and their ladies from the counties of Monterey, San Benito and Santa Cruz. Tickets are $2.75 each, which covers all charges. Tickets must be purchased in advance, as none will be sold at the door.

Executive board of the council will meet from 3 to 5 p.m. at the same location. During this period there will be a reception for ladies of board members. The executive body will complete unfinished business, act on recommendations of various committees and transact other essential business of the area.

President Gilchrist has named the following committees to administer the annual affair, which is expected to be one of the largest Scout social events of the season.

General chairman is Jack Dougherty, of Monterey. Frank Grantham is chairman of physical arrangements, assisted by John Morrill, Carl Bensberg and R. Olenberger. Program committee consists of R. D. Sproull, chairman; Lloyd Owens, chairman; Shelburn J. Robison, Dr. Arthur E. Benoit, and W. J. Abbey. Ladies reception committee will be headed by Mrs. Jack Dougherty who will select other ladies to assist. Military relations committee is in charge of General E. G. Chapman, retired, who will be assisted by other members as needed. Finance committee is Guy J. Pedroni and Merv. Lopes, of Salinas.

Mrs JOHNSTON Gets CREA Post

Mrs. Gladys R. Johnston, Carmel Realtor, has just been named head of Women's Division for Northern California Real Estate Association, according to President Ed Lackey. Mrs. Johnston was also re-appointed a director for the ninth Area.

Other real estate news: About 35 people attended the luncheon Monday at the La Ribera Hotel of the Carmel Board of Realtors. They heard a talk by Charles Flannigan, of the Monterey Taxpayers Council.

Also on the speakers agenda was an interesting account of the developments and future plans of the Yankee Point subdivision.

GOLF THEME IN LODGE TAP ROOM

The Tap Room at Del Monte Lodge has been redecorated in time for the Bing Crosby Tournament and, fittingly enough, the new theme for the room is golf. While the monkeys in the old "Monkeyshine Room" had always been very popular, the illustrations had faded and an attempt to reproduce the originals was not too successful. The question came up as to whether to make it a "decorator's room" or a room with an idea.

Sports writers everywhere have long referred to the Monterey Peninsula as "The Golf Capital of the World" but it was expressed only on the courses themselves and there was no place on the peninsula that told the history of Del Monte golf, which is in reality the history of golf in the West.

The Del Monte course was laid out in 1897, just nine years after John Reid established the first golf course in America at St. Andrews, New York. Del Monte was the first course in the West and the State Championships have always been held there.

A nine hole course was laid out at Pebble Beach in 1912, but it was not completed on its present terrain until 1916, designed at that time by Douglas

GASTONE USIGLI
Bach Festival Conductor

Starts Bach Festival Rehearsals

First rehearsal of Carmel's 13th annual Bach Festival was held Tuesday at Sunset School, with Conductor Usigli in charge. All regular members of the Bach Chorus, as well as new recruits, are urged to attend rehearsals. Any inquiries can be made of Angie Machado, assistant to Mr. Usigli, by telephoning Carmel 792-R.

The Great St. John Passion has gone into rehearsal, having been added to the program in celebration of the Bach Bi-Centennial, 1950, marking 200 years since the death of the great composer.

The Carmel Bach Festival, held each July, is counted among the major music festivals in the United States.

The festival was started by Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous and has been under Denny-Watrous Management each year.

C of C Favors State Control Of Monterey Beach

Directors of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce have gone on record as favoring State control of the Monterey beach. During a meeting on Monday at the Forest Hill Hotel, Pacific Grove, the directors heard Jack Dougherty, chairman of the Tourist and Convention Committee, report that his group favors public ownership of the beach. Carmel Martin stated the case of beach acquisition for the State park authorities.

Declaring "There is a need for action," President William Beatty appointed the following committee to act for State control: Mr. Dougherty, chairman; Allen Griffin, George Clemmens, Hal McLain and Dr. Ralph Maxwell.

The following specific resolution was adopted and will be turned over to Monterey Mayor Leslie K. Smith: "Resolved: that the city council of the City of Monterey be requested to enter into discussions with the State of California regarding conditions required to bring about public ownership for recreational purposes of the beach property extending from the former city boundary east of Municipal wharf Number Two to the Navy School line, with the understanding that there would be no change in the status of the municipality's control of the harbor and of its present or reasonably expected commercial and industrial uses."

The resolution, proposed by Allen Griffin, was approved unanimously. The directors are now polling members to determine if they agree with the directors' stand.

Presenting the "next look" in cars

NEW 1950 STUDEBAKER

Success breeds success! The car that led in modern design now moves still more spectacularly out ahead!

The new 1950 Studebaker is here—and you can see at a glance that it's America's "next look" in cars.

Here's the dramatic and unexpected sequel to the tremendously popular "new look" in cars that Studebaker originated three years ago.

Here's a truly inspired 1950 Studebaker—dynamically new in form and substance—America's most advanced new car—styled ahead and engineered ahead for years to come. Paced by a breath-taking new Studebaker Champion in the low-price field, this is a complete line of completely new 1950 Studebakers.

Each one is increased in wheelbase length and over all length—thrill-packed with the new performance of higher compression power—comfort-cushioned with self-stabilizing new Studebaker coil springs.

Discriminating America is giving the 1950 Studebaker an enthusiastic welcome.

Charity Gets Crosby Tourney Net

For the benefit of visitors, who have come to the Monterey Peninsula to see the Bing Crosby Tournament, which gets underway tomorrow, it will be interesting to note that net proceeds from the affair are divided between the Sister Kenny Polio Fund and the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest. Local communities have been affected directly by the Chest donation, as funds have gone for construction of a Carmel Youth Center, which became a possibility through the tireless efforts of Carmel Mayor Fred Godwin. Mr. Godwin visited other youth centers in the State to observe how they work, then started a drive and threw a Youth Center Benefit party at his La Playa Ranch in Carmel Valley. The result: $21,000 has been collected for a Carmel Youth Center building which is expected to be completed sometime in June of this year.

The City of Pacific Grove was awarded $8,250 from the Crosby fund by the Community Chest. On Saturday night at 8 p.m., Mr. Crosby and several topflight golfers will be on hand at opening ceremonies of the new Pacific Grove Youth Center, which will probably be named Crosby Hall. The $30,000 building is expected to be completed in 30 days. Funds over and above the Crosby donation were raised through loans and personal contributions. Because of space limitations, attendance at opening ceremonies on Saturday night has been limited to an "invitation only" basis.

The remainder of last year's tournament proceeds, other than the Sister Kenny Fund portion, went to the Sea Scouts in Monterey. They were given $2,500.

DOROTHY WARENSKJOLD

IN CARMEL CONCERT

The Carmel Music Society presents, for its third concert of the season, the lovely voice of Miss Dorothy Warenskjold . . . Sunset School Auditorium, 8:30 Saturday.

Miss Warenskjold is already well-known and popular to peninsulites through frequent visits, by appearances at the Golden Bough Playhouse, and from Standard Hour Broadcasts. Many local music lovers have even seen her at San Francisco's War Memorial Opera House, where she sang the role of Nanetta in Verdi's "Falstaff" for her debut with that company in 1948, and again last Spring when she sang as soprano soloist in Henegger's "King David." It is seldom that a new star can blaze such a brilliant path, for in the year and a half since she signed her contract with the San Francisco Opera Company she has gained a national, if not international, fame. Though she has shared honors with such conductors as Monteux, Milhaud, Mitropoulis, and Savitzky, her love for song has not waned. "In a recital," says Miss Warenskjold, "every song has a different emotion. A recital is always a stimulating challenge." With such an approach as a springboard, plus the fact that the artist has equal command of nine languages, we can be certain that her coming appearance will be one of the season's finest!

ATTENTION!!!

The dates for the four performances of "The Little Foxes" by the Forest Theater Guild have been changed to Jan. 27, 28 and Feb. 4, 5. The production will be staged at the Sunset School auditorium in Carmel.

EDITORIAL

If the program committee of the Carmel Town Meeting has its way, Carmelites will have a chance next week to hear and discuss the proposed $1,000,000 bond issue for increased school facilities in the Carmel Unified School District. Already, the bond issue has engendered sufficient interest to be the subject of "coffee talk" in the village, and the turnout for public discussion of the issue should be heavy.

The subject of this writing is the Town Meeting itself. The public forum started off last summer as a huge success, as it dealt with, in its first meeting, a "hot topic." In the past few months, a series of badly chosen topics all but liquidated the Town Meeting.

It is not the fault of the public, which has proved its interest in Carmel civic matters. We don't come by "hot topics" all the time. Choosing subject matter for a Town Meeting is not difficult unless it is considered necessary to hold the meetings on a rigid once-a-month schedule. Why is it necessary? It seems preferable to hold a good Town Meeting rather than a bad one, and if not a good one, then none at all.

If we skip a month or two, so what? The success of the public forum depends on public interest, which cannot be aroused by publicity alone. As situations arise for public discussion, Town Meetings will be held. The program committee can relax and let the topics come to them.

Dozen States Battle for Air Force Academy Site

Arizona Favored as Site Due to Flying Weather

SPECIAL TO THE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON—One of the biggest lobbying battles in Washington history is raging in Congress today, with a dozen states fighting for the new air academy.

Location of the university, which will match West Point and Annapolis, will be decided during this second session of the 81st Congress and the competing states are leaving no stone unturned.

Senator Robert A. Taft

Right now it looks as though Arizona has an excellent chance to win. The state has the best flying weather in the country and can, in the city of Phoenix, provide the community of 200,000 which the Air Force demands in the neighborhood of the academy.

California is by no means out of the race. It has a band of lobbyists going all-out. Arizona, with only two congressmen and the customary two senators, is at a disadvantage in that respect.

* * * *

● TAFT GAINS Opponents of Senate GOP policy chairman Robert A. Taft admit that he has gained ground in Ohio in his pre-campaign drive to retain his Senate seat.

The feeling now is general that Ohio labor is not wholly united in its opposition to Taft and that the AFL vote, at least, will be split.

Taft's foes are faced with the difficulty of not having a sufficiently strong Democratic candidate with which to oppose him next fall. Had Democratic Gov. Frank Lausche said "yes," the picture would have been different. But Lausche is a personal friend of Taft, although differing politically from the senator.

Odds now are heavy that Taft will retain his Senate seat and go into the 1952 GOP national convention a strong contender for the Republican presidential nomination.

* * * *

● MERCHANT MARINE Look for a drive in the new session of Congress to build up America's merchant marine.

The powerful Association of American Ship Owners already has opened its campaign to get Congress to liberalize rules governing federal aid to the maritime industry, and expects favorable action on Capitol Hill.

A major measure pending before Congress is the bill by Rep. Schuyler O. Bland (D), Virginia, to liberalize restrictions on government subsidies for ship building. A test will come on the legislation when Bland asks the House rules committee to clear it for House consideration

Other bills affecting the merchant marine are measures to change the method of fixing Panama canal tolls, to give the Maritime Commission authority to write war risk insurance, to legalize maritime hiring halls and participation of United States shipping in the foreign aid program

These measures and a number of others are designed to keep United States merchant shipping on a strong peacetime basis and ready for instant service in event of war. And Congress is sure to give them serious consideration.

Battleship May Stage Comeback

● BATTLEWAGONS The battleship may soon come into its own again in the United States Navy.

Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, has his eye on the 14 United States battleships in the mothball fleet and reportedly is interested in seeing them back in service as rocket launching vessels.

With the advent of the atomic age, the snorkel-type submarine and guided missiles, battleships have been regarded as obsolete. Now, however, the very size and structure of the heavy fighting craft may make them ideal platforms for launching rockets.

New interest also has arisen in the battleships since the recent disclosure that Russia has at least two under construction.

A German was arrested for secretly building an airplane in his garage. That was one secret that was bound to out.

AUDUBON TO TOUR LOS BANOS REFUGE

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will hold its next field trip at the Los Banos Game Refuge on Saturday. Members and friends will foregather at Tiny's Cafe in Los Banos at 8:30 a.m. for breakfast and go from there at 9 o'clock to the refuge. It is expected that unusual numbers of waterfowl will be seen and it is hoped that the sandhill cranes, which have been reported in the area, will be found. Anyone needing transportation, call Dr. Angwin, Monterey 2-0070.

CORRECTION

Due to misinformation, last week's story of the Women's Republican Club conference at Asilomar contained an error regarding the entertainment program. The folk dancing group, Los Rancheros, was incorrectly named Osborne Dancers. The names of Ed and Winnifred Edgerton were inadvertently omitted from the list of dancers.

You're the boss, Lady!

It's a well-known fact that women spend 85¢ of every single dollar spent in stores and shops in this country.

That, Lady, makes you a highly prized customer of almost every industry.

You're the boss because you decide what you'll buy and what you won't. If you don't like a product, you wan't buy it. If you do like it, you'll buy it again and again. The way you keep the products straight and tell which is which--is by the brand name. Each manufacturer gives his product a name so you can tell it from the others.

Naturally when a manufacturer puts his brand name on a product, he wants you to like it. That's why brand names give you protection when you buy... that's why brand names are your guarantee of a product's quality and uniformity.

Brand names make shopping easier, too. They provide the most convenient and economical way to choose exactly what you want.

Brand names put you in command. To be sure you stay in command, always look for the brand names when you go shopping.

Look Who's Painting Now

Surgeon, lawyer, realtor, banker ... pedagogue, novelist, singer, actor. It couldn't happen anywhere but in Carmel, and in Carmel it's happening in the Art Association Galleries.

The artistic outbursts of some 20 of the Peninsula's leading citizens, to whom painting or sculpture is entirely vocational, are drawing crowds of amazed and amused spectators.

Versatility honors go to Dr. Remsen Bird - for his delightfully gay caricatures of Martin Flavin, of himself and of a group of clerics, one of whom suspiciously resembles none other than the Rt. Rev. Karl Block, Epicsopal Bishop of California (we could be wrong). In contrast is his exquisitely delicate pastoral.

The Morses, Samuel and John, father and son, reflect in their canvases their individuality and talent. John's North African Sketch Book studies done while he was in the armed services are particularly arresting. The sweeping virility of Morse pere's rock-bound coast and tempestuous sea are accomplished with professional maturity.

Dr. John Gratiot's pastorals show the delicacy of the surgeon's touch blended with poetic beauty.

C. Rollo Peters, long famed as a Broadway star, now retired and living in Monterey, whose three costume designs done for the Plymouth Tercentennary, examples of the actor's widely varied talents.

Lotte Lehman, of concert renown, shows two canvasses, both done at Noel Sullivan's Happy Hollow . . . we particularly like the one depicting Mr. Sullivan surrounded by his lambs in the sunny meadow.

Anne Fisher, whose "Oh Glittering Promise" is this week being printed in England, shows a group of tiny Carmel stone sculptures, noteworthy for their delicacy and originality.

Paul Fancher's "The Fortune Teller" has dramatic strength of which the professor of English may be justly proud.

Don't miss the works of Allen Hovden (executive of Hovden Food Products Corporation) ..... H. W. Fletcher, realtor... James Merbes of the Monterey Peninsula Herald Advertising Department... John Todd, banker, retired... Connie Deipler, commercial artist... Shelagh Scoville's modern of Monterey Wharf and her mother's splendid canvas of the Mission.

Mrs. Miranda Ross, wife of the late Judge James Ross... Larry Barretto, novelist, and his wife, Ann, are both represented... also, Arne Halle, V.P. of the Bank of Carmel, turns from dollar to color values with astounding ease. . Arthur Kronholm, retired broker... Harold Mack, also a retired broker... and Alice Crouch.

Here indeed is a show that no one should miss. It is an exhibition of fine courage and an encouragement toward beauty. That the lawyer can lay aside his brief, the surgeon his scalpel, the business man his ledgers, and produce worthy works of art is being proved - in the Carmel Art Association Galleries... tribute to Curator Nelly Montague for the show. Let us hope it will happen again. The current exhibition will remain open to the public daily until Jan. 15.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

George Mosolf, coach at Carmel High School, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?" Born in Tacoma, Washington, in 1909, Mr. Mosolf attended Tacoma schools, later enrolling at San Diego State College and graduating from University of California with a major in physical education and social studies. While his personal sports activities are now limited to badminton, golf and softball, he played football, baseball, basketball and was a member of track teams in college. Miss Bess Smith, who attended high school with him in Tacoma, became his wife in 1935. The Mosolfs now have five, that's right, five, children: Mike, 11, Susie, 8, Pat, 5, Tim, 3, and Terry, 3 months, which helps explain the current need for increased school facilities in Carmel. Coach Mosolf, speaking of school fscilities, regards his present position as the best in the state, partly because of the equipment at Carmel High School, but mainly because he likes the students. Having visited Carmel prior to 1940, he and his wife both wanted to live here. He was coaching at a high school in Yolo County when the U. of C. notified him there was a job open in Carmel. He came here in 1940, the year after the high school was built. His baseball and basketball teams have gained runners-up spots in league play, but the football team won the CCAL-B Division championship in 1947 and repeated the feat this year with an undefeated season. If you ask Coach Mosolf, he will tell you that winning championships is not the most important accomplishment in a high school physical education department. The important thing is getting the students to participate in athletics, he feels. Seventy-five percent of the students at Carmel High School do participate, which speaks well of the man who shows them how.

NAME MANTILLA "LITTLE FOXES" SET DESIGNER

With rehearsals going at top speed, Victor Mantilla, assisted by Colden Whitman, promises outstanding sets for the Forest Theatre Guild's presentation of "The Little Foxes," Jan. 27, 28, Feb. 4, 5 in Sunset School Auditorium. Mr. Mantilla has an impressive background in designing. He was responsible for the Centenniel Pageant sets and prior to coming to Monterey Peninsula worked with Frank Lloyd at Paramount Studios as art director.

Maribeth Davis as property chairman will be assisted by Beverley Porter and Helen Prosser.

Lenore Foster, responsible for women's costumes, makes still another plea to the community for dresses and furbelows of the "turn-of-the-century vintage." If you lend them, they will be lovingly cherished," says Lenore.

Make It Easy for Child to Do Creative Written Work

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D

AT a number of times over the years I have, in this column, urged parents and teachers not to hamper the child when he is composing creatively with words, not to hamper him with caution about spelling, punctuation and the like but to urge him "to get it down" as it comes into his head. Spelling and punctuation are, of course, important, but not at the moment of creation.

I have advised teachers in evaluating a written "composition" even in the upper grades, high school and college, to measure or grade the composition first for its creative merit, then to measure it against mechanical standards. Most often, alas, only the spelling, punctuation and grammar are noticed while the real literary merit is ignored.

You can see why I so frequently urge parents to record the yarns of tots from two to six. In doing so they gain a growing appreciation of his creations. They also encourage the youngster to go on creating.

Create With Words

I wish parents and teachers would continue to encourage the child to create with words after he has entered school, by taking down his oral creations or urge him as soon as he can write to put down his own words as they come to him any way he can get them down. But even the mechanics of his writing his own words hamper him, and some of his best ideas and expressions slip away before he can get them down. Fortunate the parent or teacher who can write in shorthand or has a machine for making recordings.

Some wise teachers induce individual children in the early grades to make up stories which these teachers take down. The child later reads the stories. What better way of teaching the art of reading? Besides, the teacher also can help the child gradually learn thereby the simple steps in punctuation, capitalization and other rules of mechanics by pointing out these matters at another time, which she observed in recording his oral creations.

Final Copy

See what possibilities the young mother has at home to make reading attractive to the beginner. If she does not have a typewriter for making the final copy for the child to read she should print it neatly and boldly. (My bulletins, "Letting Little Children Learn," and "Now Come the Fairies," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

I wish you would read "Helping Children To Create," by Lois Lenski, in the November issue of "Childhood Education." She is writer and illustrator of outstanding children's books. That whole volume is devoted to developing language art in young children. You may find this superb magazine in your public library or borrow it from your elementary school principal or your child's teacher.

To quote from that article: "Creative expression can start long before the techniques of writing are mastered. It should always be remembered that creation is a flow of ideas. Given a stimulus, ideas come pouring from the mind like water from a fountain. It is all too easy to stop this creative flow. Interruptions will stop it. Rules for punctuation, spelling, grammar, hand-writing will stop it. . . . Rules and techniques should be discussed and taught at some other time, not during the period of creating."

"PARKING METER WEEK"

This turned out to be Parking Meter Week in Monterey. Several Monterey Council members were ill with colds over the holidays and were unable to give detailed study to the parking meter bids submitted for discussion at their first January meeting. Last Wednesday night Monterey's city hall resembled a convention of parking meter men. To each, the city allotted a certain time in which to present a sales talk. To each, the opportunity was given to display a meter. Whether or not the actual meters are important or not is another question.

The salesmen Wednesday night had "automatic" and "non-automatic" types; they even brought "twin" meters, to catch two cars at once. The main news, to Monterey citizens and visitors, was the fact that on all metered streets it will cost one cent for every 12 minutes of parking.

Unofficially, Monterey authorities indicated the Police Department will probably get two additional officers when the meters are installed in a few months. They will be needed to check parking time.

The meters, of course, are intended only for a "six months trial installation."

PACIFIC GROVE YEAR END REPORT

Last week, the Pacific Grove City Council, in its first meeting of the New Year, received a report on 1949 from City Manager Al Coons.

He said population increases in PG brought about greater activity in most city departments. The police and fire departments answered more calls in 1949 than in any previous year. Building activity continued high. The pressure for more revenue with which to run the city became greater. From an administration viewpoint, he said the greatest need was for modern ordinances.

He said the city made a good beginning at long range planning by participating with Monterey and the county in planning new highways for the western portion of the peninsula. Another bright aspect of the old year was the fact that more public buildings were started in Pacific Grove in '49 than in any previous year of the city's history.

The bathhouse was completed and opened. The recreation hall was started, and so was an addition to the library. The value of these buildings was estimated at $120,000. Not mentioned in the city manager's report, because it is under the school district, was the new elementary school at 17-Mile Drive and Lighthouse, which was perhaps the most important of all.

Finally, the city manager noted that Pacific Grove had 64 employees on Jan. 1, 1949. The city started the New Year with 69, for a gain of 5.

PG Mayor Likes Carmel Way

At the fag end of last week's Pacific Grove City Council meeting, city officials got into a discussion on how to sell tax deed lots.

Monterey County is having a sale shortly, and had offered to include three lots within PG jurisdiction.

Mayor William Chapman thought Carmel's way was better. "Let's do our own auctioning, but set a minimum price," he urged. City Clerk Jack Erwin explained, "Carmel had 30 to 40 lots; we have three." "Besides," said City Attorney Reginald Foster, "This way, we don't get charged for the advertising--in other words, a free ride."

The Mayor made it obvious he STILL prefers the way Carmel does it.

NOISY TRUCKS VEX MONTEREY

Like many another city, Monterey is vexed with the problem of what to do with noisy trucks starting up in the early hours of the morning and disturbing citizens who live in residential areas. Last week, residents of portions of Figueroa and portions of Pearl Streets, asked for relief.

Russell Zaches, Monterey City Attorney, explained the problem: If you limit parking, you limit ALL VEHICLES.

A bright note came from City Manager Clyde A. Dorsey: A model traffic ordinance for Monterey will set up a "downtown area" from Pacific Street to El Estero. In this area, it will be illegal to park all night.

In addition, authorities contemplate banning trucks within residential areas of the city. Monterey, however, will not consider any "tow-away" ordinance. Traffic tickets, they feel, are good enough.

Consider School Bond Issue For Town Meeting Topic

As this publication was going into the mails last night, the Carmel Town Meeting program committee was considering a debate for the January meeting that should draw a large audience. It was expected that the program committee would arrange for a discussion of the pros and cons of the proposed $1,000,000 school bond issue in the Carmel Unified School District.

The Town Meeting will probably be called at the start of next week.

Meanwhile 40 members of the newly appointed Citizens' Bond Election Committee met Friday night under the chairmanship of Attorney Gordon Campbell to hear school board members and advisors outline the proposed bond issue.

Financial Advisor Peter Mawdsley informed the committee that the cost of the bond issue would be no more than three cents a day to the average home owner and taxpayer. He said that taking the average Carmel home, assessed at $4,000, the cost to the owner would be $10.80 a year if the bond issue were accepted.

Mr. Mawdsley told the group that Carmel has the lowest tax rate of the eight incorporated areas in Monterey County with a total of $4.67 - this figure ranging from 22 cents to $1.37 lower than other areas. "With these margins over our neighbors, surely we can stand another 27 cents," he declared.

Harold Nielsen, president of the School Board, outlined the history of the growth of the school district, and explained the building plan which evolved when Carmel left the Monterey district. The bond issue, if accepted, will complete the plan, he said.

(Items for which the $1,000,000 would be spent include construction of the Carmel River School in the Mission Tract, $250,000; completion of the Carmel Woods School, $170,000, and construction of a high school auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,000, plus added class rooms, $490,000.)

Using charts and graphs, Stuart Mitchell, superintendent of schools, demonstrated the present and future need for increased school space.

It was noted at the meeting that the speakers would be available to various Carmel organizations whose members wish to be informed on the bond issue.

With the Town Meeting only a few days off, depending upon what occurred last night at the meeting of the program committee under Moderator Fred Bechdolt, it appears that one or all of the speakers may appear before Carmel residents soon. The school board is anxious to state its case, members said at the meeting Friday, and a good turnout at the Town Meeting would be right down their alley.

Resigns AWVS Chairmanship

It was with audible regret that members of the Monterey County American Women's Voluntary Services accepted the resignation of their chairman, Mrs. Edward W. Cochrane, at last Friday's luncheon meeting held at La Ribera Hotel.

"I feel," said Mrs. Cochrane, who has served for two terms, "that it is right at this time for me to pass my chairmanship into new hands. Nevertheless, the AWVS is, as you all know, very near and dear to my heart, and to Mr. Cochrane's too." Ed Cochrane, renowned sports editor and writer, is chairman of the board of the USO. Mrs. Cochrane is a member of the USO board and will continue as state AWVS representative for USO. She is also a member of the State Board of AWVS.

During the years of her service as AWVS executive Mrs. Cochrane has engineered the organization into the foremost ranks on the peninsula as a service group, not only to the armed services but to many welfare projects. It was largely through her efforts (although Mrs. Cochrane insists that it was her committees who did the hard work) that the Seaside Thrift Shop came into being and ran a highly successful record; that the Well Baby Clinic at Noche Buena School was established; and that AWVS members shared in the all important work of hostessing USO dances for service men.

At the same luncheon at which she tendered her resignation, Mrs. Cochrane heard with deep gratification the unanimous vote of the membership to donate $1,000 to the Seaside-Del Monte Youth Center, a service for which she has worked unceasingly.

In her farewell address Mrs. Cochrane said, in part:

"I feel confident that this group will go forward, under new leadership, to accomplish many good things and to serve the community in the gracious and generous manner that is their own. I am sorry to say that I am not able to continue in any official capacity with this unit. I will always be an enthusiastic working member and proud to remain as a member of the board, ready to offer any help whenever needed or called upon. I feel strongly about the leadership of our unit being passed on to new officers as I know they will bring fresh interest and action to the group and will go on, aware of the importance of AWVS, to the community and to the country."

Fred Farr, guest speaker of the day, told of the plans for building the new Seaside-Del Monte Youth Center. In explaining the new plans Mr. Farr said the Monterey Lions' Club had pledged $1,000, and that Monterey County will donate $500. With the additional $1,000 check from the AWVS and the donation from the Crosby Fund, which has been requested, it is hoped that recreation facilities may be provided for some 200 teen-age children of Seaside. Mrs. Thomas E. May, treasurer of AWVS, said: "We have derived most of the funds in our treasury from the Seaside Thrift Shop; let's put the money back in Seaside where it is so sorely needed."

Another of Mrs. Cochrane's pet projects was the USO dark room in the El Estero Building (for furthering of photographic activities of service men). Following the report of Mrs. Markham Johnston and Mrs. Josephine Johnston, it was voted to donate $125 for the dark room.

The new Board of AWVS, as announced by Mrs. F. A. L. Vossler, includes: the Mesdames Alice Ayers, Howell Armor, Edwin Atherton, A. Gordon Bagley, S. N. Bonsall, Richard Bower, L. R. Carey, Edward W. Cochrane, Charles M. Bentley, John Cox, Rhea Dively, Leslie Emery, Don English, E. D. Good-Johnson, Mary Johnson, Markham Johnson, Louis Lengfeld, Thomas E. May, William McNamee, P. A. Mix, James W. Moore, Howard Murphy, William E. Oberholtzer Jr., Helen Clark Park, F. G. Ringland, W. Durbin Sayers, D. D. Stofer, F. A. L. Vossler, Della C. Williams, Stuart J. Wilson and Miss Alice B. Seckels.

Reports on activities during the past month were made by Mrs. Frank Ringland, chairman of the international relations committee; Mrs. Edwin Atherton, for entertainment at Fort Ord, and Mrs. Helen Clark Park for the Thrift Shop.

THE NEW TAP ROOM
DEL MONTE LODGE
Tuesday, January 10, at Noon

A MUSEUM OF WESTERN GOLF

The new taproom is not just another "decorators' dream." It is much more than that. On the great golden oak walls will be hung hundreds of picures, magazine and newspaper articles, testimonials and trophies, depicting the history of Peninsula golf from 1897 until 1950. This history is In truth the history of Western Golf and is, along with the Peninsula's 4 championship courses, the reason why the region is referred to by sports writers and editors everywhere as the "Golf Capital of the World."

Del Monte was the first course west of the Mississippi and was built only nine years after the first course in America. All the golfing great and near great, pictures, stories and trophies, from 1897 on, have been assembled, framed and placed upon the taproom walls.

The walls are lined with deep, comfortable red leather sofas and banquettes. Large view windows have been added, plus acoustical ceiling, indirect lighting and remote control music.

Harry, George, Rudy, Roy and Louis, the five stewards who have been at the Lodge so long, will answer your questions and will provide the best in wine chemistry.

The Golfer's Luncheon is only $1.25 and we will continue, of course, to serve the Del Monte ounce and a quarter of the best liquors available.

You are cordially invited to visit the Lodge soon.

MERCHANDIZING CLASS FOR LOCAL RETAILERS

Monterey Peninsula retailers are invited to attend a five-conference study of modern retailing methods, opening Monday, Jan. 16, at the San Carlos Hotel, according to Oscar Balzer, president of the Carmel Business Association.

Sponsored by the Bureau of Business Education of the California Department of Education in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce and the Peninsula Evening College, the course will provide business people with information on modern selling methods and merchandising.

All persons engaged in selling, whether in merchandising or services, are invited to attend the conferences.

MORE ABOUT LODGE TAP ROOM

Grant and Jack Neville, and later manicured by the late Chandler Egan. The Monterey Peninsula Country Club was built in 1925 and the Cypress Point Club in 1927.

Practically every major tournament has at one time or another been held over the Pebble Beach course. This famous seaside course has been selected five times by the USGA, and in addition to the annual State Championships and various professional and open tournaments, it is now the annual site of Bing Crosby's $10,000 National Pro-Amateur Championship, which Grantland Rice refers to as the greatest tournament of them all. Too, almost without exception every famous golfer has played over these courses at one time or another.

Testimonials, trophies, newspaper and magazine articles and photographs are held on file in the Del Monte offices in large abundance. Perhaps the most interesting exhibit is the five national All-American courses picked at various times by Grantland Rice, Bobby Jones, the American Greenskeepers Association under the auspices of Life Magazine; the PGA whose committee chairman was Sam Snead, and Ben Hogan. Out of the estimated 60,000 holes in America these five experts picked their All-American 18. In each case there are at least two Peninsula holes selected, and in the case of Hogan, three, and in the case of Sam Snead for the PGA, four.

It was, therefore, decided that there should be a clubroom dedicated to golf, one that would not only tell the story of golf in the West, but was as comfortable and informal as a private den or library. After all, good tap rooms are "conversation" rooms and not "view" rooms. Only a few architectural changes have been made in the room. It has been left exactly the same size and its functions are identical with those of the past.

A mural of the Pebble Beach golf course has been placed behind the bar, showing the outline of the fairways in gold with small brass rods indicating the flight of the ball from tee to green. Superimposed on the mural are various Del Monte trophies.

On the oak paneled walls of the tap room are hung in an informal manner, some two or three hundred pictures, trophies, testimonials, newspaper and magazine articles, etc. telling the story of Monterey Peninsula golf from its beginning in 1897 until today.

The pictures, trophies and exhibits will unquestionably be changed from time to time, because already gifts of interesting golf material are being received from all over the country.

Harry, George, Rudy, Roy and Louis, the five stewards who have been with Del Monte Lodge so long, will continue to preside and are becoming, in addition, expert curators of their tap room museum.
